To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to extend my sincere recommendation for Jacqueline Schaffer, who was employed as The Christ Hospital Program Director of The Christ Hospital Wound Healing Center through National Healing Corporation from 2009-2011. In this position, Jackie functioned as a key player within the Christ Hospital although technically she was employed through National Healing. In her role as Program Director, Jackie was instrumental in working with other service lines to create a cardiovascular and diabetes screening event that helped to promote wound healing services as well as other key hospital services. I worked closely with Jackie on this project and she was very organized and easy to work with. Her grasp of the big picture as well as the details needed to get to the end result made it easy to be a part of this project. Jackie also worked effectively within not only the heart and vascular service line but throughout the hospital to increase awareness of services the wound center has to offer. She hosted physician events as well employee open houses and was successful increasing wound center referrals by enhancing the awareness throughout our network. Jackie was also helpful in promoting services to wound center patients that we offered through our cardiac wellness program in order to provide the best possible patient experience during treatment.

I highly recommend Jackie to your organization without any hesitation. Her professionalism, dedication, and ability to work within a team were all great contributions to our company during her time with us. Please, feel free to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,
