

April 13, 2005

To whom it may concern:

As a VP of Service at Misys Healthcare, I have the opportunity to work with numerous customers. Through that process, I have learned the success of any given implementation is highly correlated to the commitment and expertise of the customers themselves.

During the past several months, I have been fortunate to work with Jackie Huynh of OB Specialists of Palm Beach. Her company has undertaken a daunting software implementation project and I can safely say that Jackie's ownership of the project has made a measurable and significant impact on the project's success.

Through my interactions with Jackie, I have witnessed someone who is passionately committed, technically astute, and willing to take measured risks. She has been demanding, but fair and ultimately recognizes the value of building a partnership with our company. Overall, I have been thoroughly impressed with her leadership and how she represents her company.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Ben Clark" with a stylized flourish at the end.

Ben Clark

